

federal that the patient medical chance

on

The injured student was transported to Castlevew Hospital and then life flight took her to LDS Hospital in Salt Lake City.

"This is the second day of a seven week geology field trip for the graduating geology seniors," added Slingerland. "The students are staying at the CEU dorms before going to Wyoming for the next leg of the trip. Hopefully this will make the students a little more careful about where they are and what they are doing."

0012 about where they are and what they are doing."

Mary Ann - FBI.

il M. ...

ors on Thu
the coal to fuel
plant near Cast
come from a co

Hearing that the Scottish Power directors would be in Emery County on June 1, the union miners planned the demonstra-

The announcement also noted

Supervisor Tamara Klarich indicated that there four trained life guards on duty at all times.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

(Continued on page 2A)

Fit Tampoo
Hair
Conditioner
2 of a Highlight R
T
637-4066

I still find the English dictionary the most interesting book in our language.
—Ally Day Nock

News tips?
381-2431

RENT TO OWN
VCR's, TV's, Stereo's
Appliances, Furniture

Pay 1st Week Rent,
Mention this Ad and get the 2nd
Weeks Rent Free

HARD HAT
FURNITURE & APPLIANCE
21 West Main, Price 637-0140

TROPICAL Preserves
32 oz.
1.99

KRAFT Dressings
16 oz.
2.19

R & A Market
BESTWAY
408 So. Main, Helper
472-3301

ORN FAMILY, 16 oz. ea. 1.99
Rib Roast 1.99

Chicken Wings, Thighs & Drumsticks
3 pkgs. for 4.00

Lots More Sales in Store
Prices Good Thru
Tues. 6-6 thru Mon. 6-12-00

GOLD-N-SOFT
Margarine 16 oz. 79
DOLE Juices 64 oz. 1.99
MICHELINA'S Entrees 9 oz. 1.19

COUNTRY CHARM Ice Cream
1/2 gal.
1.99

Cantaloupe 3.99
Large Peaches or Nectarines 1.99
FRESH EXPRESS, 12 oz. 2/4.00
Salad Blends 1.99
FRESH EXPRESS, 6 oz. 1.99
Baby Spinach 1.99
Large, Hydroponic Tomatoes 1.99

In Store Bakery
Butter Flake Rolls 2.09
Asst. Muffins 2.49

ual
rs Mansell

ie with Mansell & Associates, over 65 million prospective buyers vacy of their own computer - 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

listed below and take a sample tour. You'll see why we say...

(Continued from page 1A)
The health department has notified individuals who may have come into contact with the virus in either of the suspected locations.
Cunningham points out that the modular lot is no greater a risk area than any unoccupied building where mice may gain entrance.
Although it is not possible to destroy the mouse population, it is possible to take precautions when approaching an area one suspects may be infested, explained the local health official.
The Utah Department of Health Bureau of Epidemiology advises the following in preventing infection:
• Avoid contact with rodents, their droppings, and their nests.
• Prevent mice from entering your home by sealing any openings into your home that are a quarter inch or larger. Make sure your house is sealed inside the garage as well.
• Kill the mice that are already in your home. Snap traps are the preferred method. Dead mice should be sprayed with a disinfectant and then placed in double plastic bags for disposal. Alternatively, poisons can be used as long as pets or small children can be kept away.
• Remember to wear rubber or plastic gloves when touching traps or mice.
• Do not stir up dust while cleaning. The dust may contain the virus.
• All food, including pet food, should be kept in rodent proof containers.
• Carpets and upholstered furniture can be shampooed or steam cleaned.
• Bedding should be laundered in hot soapy water.
• Disinfectants that can be used are: chlorine bleach (one part to 10 parts water), or household disinfectants. (Remember to wear rubber or plastic gloves while cleaning.)

items in double plastic bags for disposal.
Most common masks will not protect from breathing virus. A properly fitted half or full face respirator with a high-efficiency particulate air (HEPA) filter is the only approved "mask". Cost and problems with fit probably preclude the use of these respirators by the general public. Goggles should also be worn with respirators.
To keep dust out of the air, use a disinfectant while cleaning and follow all the precautions for cleanup.
While camping or hiking, avoid rodents and rodent burrows. Use tents with floors and preferable cots. Camp should be kept clean. All food and trash should be stored away from rodents.
Cabins, sheds or other buildings that are only used periodically should be carefully cleaned. The building should be aired out for a full 30 minutes before entering. The same cleaning precautions as listed above should be followed.
According to recent Center for Disease Control data, there are currently 253 known cases of Hantavirus Pulmonary Syndrome (HPS) in the United States as of May 8, 2000. The majority of these cases have occurred in the western United States. To date, 14 have been identified in Utah with five fatalities. Seventy-five percent of HPS cases occur in rural areas.
Utah's highways and illicit drug use provide a much greater risk to the community than hantavirus, advises Cunningham.
Carbon County residents should educate themselves to the dangers of the virus and take precautions when necessary, but there is no need to panic over a condition that is relatively rare.
Residents who have seen evidence of rodents and their clean up methods should be hyper-vigilant, insisted Cunningham. "One case is just that, but a second case may indicate a cluster effect and requires more intense investigation. There was no winter kill of mice with our mild weather and enough grass for mice to continue to thrive. It is a concern."

Trail Mountain miners picket power company:

(Continued from page 1A)
In an effort to encourage company officials to meet with them, listen to their concerns regarding the planned mine closure and give them some truthful answers.

The miners for the ScottishPower officials indicated they would tour the Deer Creek mine at 9 a.m. before moving on to the Hunter plant near Castle Dale for a tour of the facility and lunch.

According to media spokesperson Dave Eskelsen, ScottishPower officials were in Emery County to conduct a board meeting and tour the newly acquired assets received as part of the merger with PacifiCorp.

Employees at Deer Creek had been preparing for the visit for several weeks. The office and bathhouse had been cleaned, painted and polished.

Last Thursday morning, the mine employees set up tables in the conference room, prepared hard hats, safety glasses and steel toes for the officials' shoes.

The miners also set out pastries, bagels, beverages and fresh fruit for the meeting, along with baseball caps for souvenirs.

Then the employees waited along with Energy West official Keith Sinsell for the officials to arrive. Calls kept coming into the office indicating "they were on their way," but the board members never arrived.

Wayne Jensen, also from Energy West, arrived around 10:30 a.m. and told the waiting employees that the officials were on the way.

But Jensen indicated that he didn't know where the company directors were at that given time.

A group of Local 2176 UMW miners along with union president Forrest Addison, vice president Cameron Montgomery and executive board members Vic Staley, Warren Oviatt and Rick Snyder from Trail Mountain assembled on State Road 31 in Huntington Canyon at the base of the private road leading up to the Deer Creek.

Shortly after Jensen arrived at the mine, the demonstrators waiting on SR-31 saw a caravan of Chevy Suburbans heading toward them stop, turn around and drive away from the area.

The miners believed the vehicles were carrying the ScottishPower officials.

After obtaining the information the caravan had arrived at Hunter, the miners disassembled and reassembled on State Road 10 near the road leading to the power plant.

Fred Lupo, UMW District 22 president, joined the miners near the power plant as they conducted their demonstration.

"All ScottishPower wants is the transmission lines, not the coal mines. Naturally, I am here to give my support to these miners. When they lose their jobs it will not only effect them it will effect the whole community as well. There are real issues here which need to be addressed," commented Lupo when asked his opinion of the merger and the day's events.

The demonstrators did not interfere with traffic to or from the power plant or Deer Creek mine.

The employees' efforts were rewarded when Bill Landel, executive vice president of ScottishPower, and Dee Jens, president of Interwest Mining, finally drove out from the plant to speak with the group of miners.

The miners were told the ScottishPower officials were on a very tight schedule and could not meet with them, but they might possibly be able to arrange a meeting sometime next week in Portland for the union officials to meet with them at that time.

A few of the miners were able to express some of their concerns during the brief meeting.

As the caravan of ScottishPower officials left the Hunter plant later last Thursday afternoon, the demonstrators were still there, holding up the signs and forcing the board of directors to recognize that they were there.

"We feel we are not being heard on our concerns about the merger. All the announcements they have made had done nothing but destroy our community. We believe they are not telling us the truth about what is really happening," Cliff McClintock told the Emery County Progress while participating in the demonstration.

Erwin Cox also supported the demonstration.

"They have lied to us straight out. It's been a conspiracy all the way. They never told us they were going to shut down the mine. They were sending us to meetings letting us believe we would still have our jobs when all along they had signed a contract with SUPCO and knew they were going to shut us down. I refuted my home thinking I was going to have a job," maintained Cox.

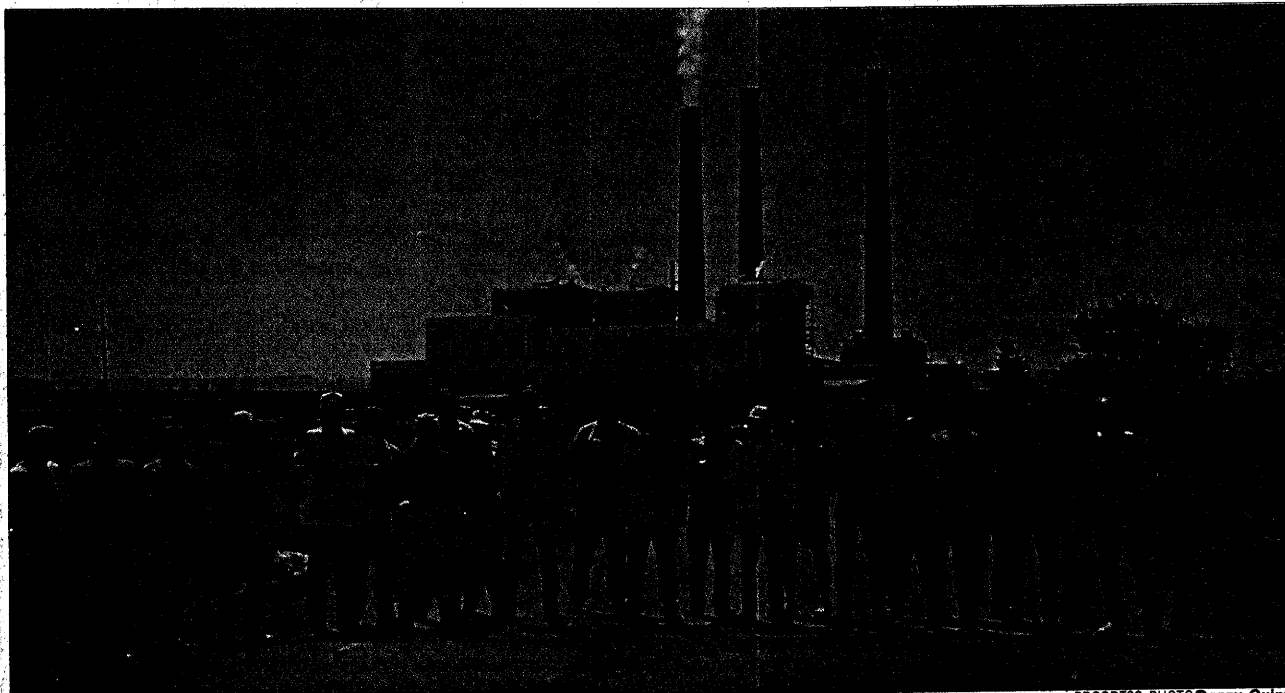

"You want to know the kind of people we are dealing with here? We are dealing with cold people," commented Kevin Phillips, another demonstrator. "They don't care anything about us. I was sitting in a restaurant with my wife the day after they announced the shutdown, and these people were in the restaurant laughing and having a good time. I don't understand how you can destroy 200 peoples lives, then laugh and be merry. They are cold people, very cold people."

"I asked them about all the promises they have made to our communities. Promises about miners future, our kids futures, the coal leases and other promises. All I was told was 'we don't think you can mine the coal as cheap as we can buy it,' pointed out Marty Mower, another demonstrator. "All I ask is they give us a chance to try."

"Everything they said we can't do, we've done it. We are some of the best miners in the world. We pulled through after the Wilberg mine fire and got the mine back up and running, and we can do it again. We have brought our coal down from $19 a ton two years, this past year to $14, and now $12 to $9 a ton this year, and at times lower. Give us a chance to try, that's all we ask," represented the statements repeated by the Carbon and Emery coal miners participating in the demonstration.

The chance the employees are asking for is to mine the Cottonwood north coal tract that PacifiCorp and Interwest Mining won't consider or try to buy the lease.

PacifiCorp and Interwest officials have purportedly indicated that the power company feels the tract of coal in question would be too expensive to try to mine.

PROGRESS PHOTO/Danny Quinn

Union coal miners from Trail Mountain Coal mine, who will be unemployed within the next two years, stage a peaceful demonstration outside Hunter Power Plant near Castle Dale last Thursday. The Scottish Power board of directors were inside the plant on a tour at the time.

UMWA Local 2176 organizes demonstration aimed at Scottish Power Board of Directors

By DORIS QUINN
Progress editor

"I want to look each employee in the eye and say they got a fair deal," so states Alan Richardson, CEO of Scottish Power, on a video he made for all the employees of PacifiCorp and Interwest Mining Corp. The video was presented to the employees of Energy West Mining—both union coal miners and company personnel recently—in conjunction with the Transition Team Plan announcement, which called for being a top 10 utility in the world, and reduction in workforce.

Trail Mountain Coal miners have been asking questions since the April closure announcement about why they are being shut down. At every meeting since that time, including a recent Labor Management Positive Change Process (LMPCP) meeting.

A single representative from Energy West Mining was the only official attending that meeting, and fielded the miners concerns on behalf of Scottish Power "but was not allowed to disclose details" regarding most of the issues.

Interwest Mining made the official announcement of its plans to close the Trail Mountain Mine on April 19th of this year, and indicated the closure would end the employment of some 200 employees at the mine within the next two years. The announcement also noted the coal to fuel the Hunter Power Plant near Castle Dale would then come from a contract with SUFCO mine in Sevier County and from the Deer Creek in Huntington Canyon.

PacifiCorp officials met with the county commissioners and all the mayors of Emery County, at the Hunter Power Plant, the day before making the official announcement the following day to the employees at Trail Mountain Mine or the media. The company also met with District 22 Local UMWA officials to apprise them of the announcement that same evening. These meetings were to inform the officials of the planned closure.

Since the announced closure, employees of the Trail Mountain Mine have tried in vain to get their concerns and questions addressed, and answered.

This lead up to the quiet, peaceful demonstration they held last Thursday near Deer Creek Mine in Huntington Canyon, and subsequently moved near the Hunter Power Plant.

Hearing from informed sources Scottish Power Board of Directors would be in Emery County last Thursday, the union miners met and planned the demonstration in an effort to encourage the officials of Scottish Power—as well as PacifiCorp and Interwest Mining—to meet with them, listen to their concerns regarding the planned mine closure, and give them some truthful answers.

The itinerary for the Scottish Power officials indicated they would tour the Deer Creek Mine in Huntington Canyon

(Continued on page 8A)

Hantavirus suspect in Carbon woman's death

By JACKIE ANDERSON
Staff reporter

Wellington resident Cathy Dimick died at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday at LDS hospital exhibiting symptoms similar to exposure to Hantavirus Pulmonary Syndrome, said hospital public relations director Jess Gomez.

Test samples were submitted to the Utah Department of Health to determine the cause of death.

Dimick initially presented to Castleview Hospital where she was stabilized and then life flighted to LDS Hospital, arriving at 10:30 a.m. in what Gomez described as a severely ill condition.

"The patient was in complete shock. She was admitted to the shock trauma intensive care unit, where she later died," explained the hospital spokes-

The virus is not known to be spread from person to person.

Castle Valley residents who have been exposed to rodents or their droppings in the last six weeks and are experiencing respiratory difficulties should see a doctor.

Castleview nursing officer Bonnie Cook explained that victims are often unaware of their exposure to the virus until symptoms begin to manifest themselves one to six weeks following the exposure. Even then, most victims do not associate the symptoms with hantavirus because they are so general and mimic common illnesses like the flu, pointed out Cook.

The first symptoms may include: fever, muscle aches, chills, cough, headache, nausea/vomiting and feeling tired. Next a person can develop difficulty breathing, which can become very

Commissioners recognize fair guide cover winning artists

The Emery County Commissioners recently recognized eight young artists who submitted winning designs in a of this year's Fair, "Dreams Can Come True". Shelby Huntington of Castle Dale

Ca Ne

Mis
pag
We eve

The
the Pay
th at audito
the pu

clos no i bur

trial daily inued season
Burnin
securi Bar county
city, throug forest
"On warm comes land fi
Dinam to be arms to men
Divisi
State

Tee
to of b

Can (CFO) reverte on the tendr emy (c
ing) o

Des learn those fession emy is tion to ogy, r nique equip and r will a campi ecology radio
Inst
meals provid Schol
qualif Spa
is limi 7750 outlin

Fre
slat

Count at the court

t center

10th • 10am-4pm

er Show

Great Father's Day Gift Ideas!

from DEWALT.

unroc (Building Decorative Blocks)

OL LE

DW235G

FREE PIZZA SAMPLES Noon to 2 pm

QUIKRETE

60# Concrete Mix $1.69

60# Post Mix $1.49

SUNROC

12 noon- 2 pm only

SUNROC Utah's largest SE manufacturer reps will be there helping everyone on their

DIAMOND WALL & WINDSOR RETAINING WALL

systems. If you need landscaping or structural wall systems come see us.

Diamond Wall Windsor Stone

Reg. $3.99 Split Grey, Reg. $1.60

$2.99 $1.29

On display, check it out!

Best Quality Paint.

Master Touch Paint

Exterior Latex $9.79

Flat Reg. $15.99

Gal. While Supplies Last

UMWA Local 2176 organizes demonstration:

(Continued from page 1)

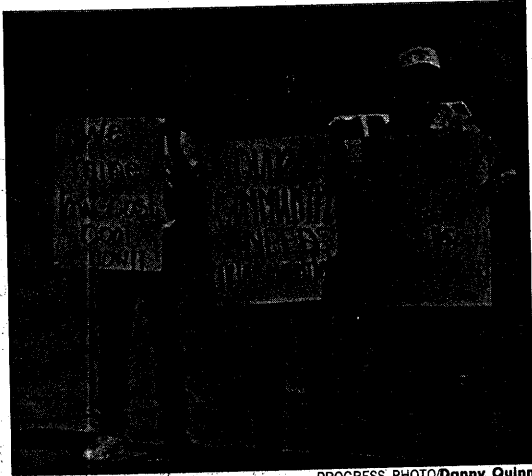

at 9 a.m. before moving on to the Hunter Power Plant near Castle Dale for a tour of the facility and lunch. According to Dave Eskelsen, media relations for PacifiCorp, Scottish Power officials were in Emery County to hold a board meeting and tour their newly acquired assets received as part of the merger with PacifiCorp.

Employees at Deer Creek Mine had been busily preparing for the visit for several weeks. The office and bathhouse had been cleaned, painted and polished until it literally shined. Last Thursday morning Deer Creek employees set up tables in the conference room, prepared hard hats, safety glasses, and steel toes for the officials' shoes. They also set out pastries, bagels, beverages and fresh fruit for the meeting, along with baseball caps for souvenirs.

Then they patiently waited, along with Energy West official Keith Sinsel, for all the officials to arrive. They waited, waited, and waited. Calls kept coming into the office saying "they were on their way," but they never arrived. Wayne Jensen, also from Energy West, arrived around 10:30 a.m. and told those waiting the officials were on the way but he didn't know where they were at that given time.

A group of the Local 2176 UMWA miners—along with their union president Forrest Adison, vice-president Cameron Montgomery, and executive board members Vic Staley, Warren Oviatt and Rick Snyder—from the Trail Mountain Mine assembled on SR 31 in Huntington Canyon at the base of the private road leading up to the Deer Creek Mine, where officials from Scottish Power were to begin their tour last Thursday.

Shortly after Jensen arrived at the mine site, the demonstrators waiting on SR 31 saw a caravan of Chevy Suburbans heading toward them stop, turn around, and drive away from the area. The miners believed these suburbans were carrying the Scottish Power officials. After obtaining the information the caravan had arrived at the Hunter Power Plant, the miners disassembled, and reassembled on SR 10 near the road leading to Hunter Power

PROGRESS PHOTO/Danny Quinn

Needing answers to their questions concerning the closure of Trail Mountain, miners waited hours on Thursday for Scottish Power officials to stop and talk with them.

Plant. Fred Lupo, UMWA District 22 president, also joined the miners near the power plant as they held their demonstration.

When asked his opinion of the merger and the day's events, Lupo said, "All Scottish Power wants is the transmission lines, not the coal mines. Naturally I am here to give my support to these miners. When they lose their jobs it will not only effect them it will effect the whole community as well. There are real issues here which need to be addressed."

The demonstrators did not interfere with traffic to or from the power plant, or Deer Creek Mine, and patiently waited for any official to stop and talk to them, and hear their concerns. They were rewarded for their patience as Bill Landel, Executive Vice-President of Scottish Power and Dee Jens, President of Interwest Mining, finally drove out from the plant to speak with them.

The miners were told the Scottish Power officials were on a very tight schedule and could not meet with them, but they might possibly be able to arrange a meeting sometime next week in Portland for the union officials to meet with them at that time. A few of the miners were able to express some of their concerns during this time, but the meeting was very brief.

As the caravan of Scottish Power officials left Hunter Plant later that afternoon, the demonstrators were still there, holding up their signs forcing the officials to recognize they were there. As they drove past, Bill Landel called out the window to the miners, "See ya next week," to which Earl Nelson, one of the demonstrators replied to him, "We'll hold you too it!"

"We feel we are not being heard on our concerns about the merger. All the announcements they have made have done nothing but destroy our community. We believe they are not telling us the truth about what is really happening," Cliff McClintock told the Emery County Progress while participating in the demonstration.

Erwin Cox, also supporting the demonstration said, "They have lied to us straight out! It's been a conspiracy all the way. They never told us they were going to shut down the mine. They were sending us to meetings letting us believe we would still have our jobs when all along they had signed a contract with SUFCO and knew they were going to shut us down. I refinanced my home thinking I was going to have a job."

"You want to know the kind of people we are dealing with here? We are dealing with cold people," said Kevin Phillips, another one of the demonstrators. "They don't care anything about us. I was sitting in a restaurant with my wife the day after they announced the shutdown, and these people were in the restaurant laughing and having a good time. I don't understand how you can destroy 200 peoples lives, then laugh and be merry. They are cold people, very cold people."

"I asked them about all the promises they have made to our communities. Promises about miners future, our kids futures, the coal leases and other promises. All I was told was 'we don't think you can mine the coal as cheap as we can buy it,'" Marty Mower, another demonstrator said. "All I ask is they give us a chance to try!"

"Everything they said we can't do, we've done it. We are some of the best miners in the world. We pulled through after the

"Everything they said we can't do, we've done it. We are some of the best miners in the world. We pulled through after the Wilberg Mine fire and got the mine back up and running, and we can do it again. We have brought our coal down from $19 a ton two years, this past year to $14, and now $12 to $9 a ton this year, and at times lower. Give us a chance to try, that's all we ask!" This statement was made over and over again by all the miners participating in the demonstration.

The chance to try they are asking for is to mine the Cottonwood north coal tract. According to Forrest Adison, PacifiCorp and Interwest Mining won't consider or try to buy the lease, feeling it would be too expensive to try to mine.

Buy a phone, get a car.

the free and the home of the brave.

Scottish Power treatment:

(Continued from page 4A)

plant office, where we were met by three people. One was the manager of the plant. He told us we would need to come back at 1:30 p.m. because the Scottish Power officials had already begun their tour and it was too late for us to join them. I did feel they had expected me to be there, but having waited at Deer Creek for so long, I was late in arriving.

I specifically asked the manager of the power plant if the Scottish Power officials were going to return to the Deer Creek Mine for the tour there, and he indicated they would not be touring those facilities after all.

After leaving the power plant I called the Deer Creek Mine, told the secretary what the manager of the plant had told me, and she transferred my call to the General Manager of Energy West Mining, Keith Sinsel, who was still waiting at the Mine for the Scottish Power officials to arrive.

They still had not been notified the tour of the mine had been canceled.

As we left the power plant, the miners from Trail Mountain were reassembling on the highway near the road to the power plant, so we stopped to talk with them once again.

They asked if we were able to meet with the Scottish Power officials, and if they were actually inside the power plant. I told them I was to return at 1:30 p.m. to meet with them. They then asked me if I would please ask the Scottish Power officials to come out and talk to them, if I got in to see them. I told them I would pass along their message.

When I returned at 1:30 p.m. I was not even allowed into the plant this time. I was turned away at the security gate.

When the security guard phoned into the plant to tell them I had returned, someone inside told her the Scottish Power officials would not be reassembling together before leaving the plant, and to tell me someone from PacifiCorp would bring me a picture and a press release for the newspaper.

Having spent the whole day trying to make contact with these officials, at the request of a PacifiCorp employee, I must say I was quite disgruntled over the whole situation. Knowing there was nothing I could do, I bit my tongue and left. After all the security guard was not the one who had given me the runaround, and it would not have been appropriate to express my disappointment and anger to her.

As we left the power plant this second time we again stopped where the miners were. Fred Lupo president of the UMWA District 22 had joined the miners by this time. None of the miners seemed surprised that I had been turned away. The miners did tell me that one Scottish Power official and a representative from Interwest Mining Corp. had come out and spoke briefly with them.

The officials told the miners they would like to meet with them, but their time just wouldn't allow it. They also promised the miners they would try to set up a meeting with the local union officials from Trail Mountain in Portland next week, if time allowed for that.

Of course many promises have been made since the merger of Scottish Power and PacifiCorp. Promises made, and promises broken. Propaganda detailing how wonderful this merger will be for everyone—customers, employees and the citizens of Utah—has flooded the media in recent months. Scottish Power says it cares about its employees, and the communities they live in.

Call me cynical but after Scottish Power officials, along with the PacifiCorp and Interwest Mining officials in the party, put on their display of total disregard for all the employees of Energy West Mining during Thursday's visit, I say I have to agree with Fred Lupo, President of UMWA District 22 in Price, who truly believes Scottish Power doesn't want the coal mines, all it wants is the transmission lines.

In my opinion, if the company doesn't want the mines, then it also doesn't care about the employees at the mines, or the communities they live in.

You may be wise to heed the words of coal miner Kevin Phillips when he said, "We are dealing with cold people... These people can destroy 200 peoples lives, then laugh and be merry."

army battles farmers and villagers who snipe at them from hedges and stone fences. By nightfall, the survivors are back in Boston, having lost 273 men along the way. The American loss is 95.

As the British and Americans maintain an armed standoff in Massachusetts, "representatives of the united colonies of North America" met in Congress at Philadelphia May 10 and June 16 pass a resolution to establish a Continental Army, casting their lot as one to resist usurpation of their rights as Englishmen.

As stated in the "Declaration of the Causes and Necessity of Taking up Arms," "We have counted the cost of this contest, and find nothing so dreadful as voluntary slavery. — Honour, justice, and humanity, forbid us tamely to surrender that freedom which we received from our gallant ancestors, and which our innocent posterity have a right to receive from us."

Utah medals of honor

VIETNAM ERA

Brian Miles Thacker

Rank and Organization: First Lieutenant, U.S. Army, Battery A, 1st Battalion, 92d Artillery. Place and date: Kontum Province, Republic of Vietnam, 31 March 1971.

Entered service at: Salt Lake City, Utah.

500 yards beyond the American lines he observed a hostile tank about 75 yards away, and raked it with automatic rifle fire until it withdrew. Soon afterward he saw three Germans stealthily approaching the woods.

Scorning cover as the enemy soldiers opened up with heavy automatic weapons fire from a range of 30 yards, he engaged in a fire fight with the attackers until he had killed all three. The enemy quickly launched an attack with two full companies of infantrymen, blasting the patrol with murderous concentrations of automatic and rifle fire and beginning an encircling movement which forced the patrol leader to order a withdrawal.

Despite the terrible odds, Pfc. Valdez immediately volunteered to cover the maneuver, and as the patrol 1 by 1 plunged through a hail of bullets toward the American lines, he fired burst after burst into the swarming enemy. Three of his companions were wounded in their dash for safety and he was struck by a bullet that enter his stomach and, passing through his body, emerged from his back.

He died later as a result of his wounds.

Through his valiant, intrepid stand and at the cost of his own life, Pfc. Valdez made it possible for his comrades to escape, and was directly responsible for repulsing an attack by vastly superior enemy forces.

Sale

Half Off Houseboats from Now through June 15th
Houseboat from Hite Marir
we'll take 50% off the reg.
kind of dough, what are yc

5-Day Rental*

44' Standard Class

50' Standard Class

Hurry! There are only so many houseboats will go fast. The sale prices above similar savings! Prices don't include fuel

Call us at www.vls

Lak America

Lake Powell Resorts & Marina, managed by

GREAT TRANSPORTATION - FANTA

'89 Ford
Bronco II
4x4

$5,995

'95 B1500
4x4
Reg. Cab, V8, Red

$11,995

'99 GMC
Jimmy
V6, Loaded, 4x4

$18,995

'98 Ford F
4x4, Supercab,
Auto, Lariat

$20,995

'94 Pontiac
Grand Prix

$4,995

'94 Mazda
Miata
Convertible
Only

$6,995

'97 Ford
Taurus
V6, V6, Nice Car, 28 mpg.

$7,995

200
Mu
V6, Red,

$16,995

"Large enough to serve, small enough to care"

COMMUNITY MOTO

Jeep
Eagle

FORD
MERCURY
LINCOLN

Ford

CHRYSLER
PLYMOUTH
DODGE

354 Sc
Price
637-637
Tel
1-800-

Community Comments & Reflect

Scottish Power treatment of local miners despairing

By DORIS QUINN
Progress editor

Last Thursday members from the Scottish Power board of directors, along with officials from PacificCorp and Intervest Mining Corp., were in Emery County to "hold a board meeting and make a tour of their newly acquired assets they received from the merger," said Dave Eskelsen, media relations director from PacificCorp's office in Salt Lake City.

Eskelsen also said the Scottish Power Board of Directors would be having dinner with the governor of Utah that same evening, and would attend another board meeting and luncheon in Salt Lake City the following day. He also added the media was not included in the day's events in Emery County.

For not being included in the day's events that leaves me to wonder why an employee from the Hunter Power Plant phoned the Emery County Progress, and specifically made the request for someone from the newspaper to be at the power plant to take pictures on Thursday. The time given for me to arrive at the plant was around 10:45 a.m.

This person also indicated the Scottish Power board of directors, along with the PacificCorp and Intervest Mining officials, would tour the Deer Creek Mine in Huntington Canyon prior to touring the Hunter Power Plant.

This person made no mention of the Scottish Power officials touring the Huntington Power Plant, near the Deer Creek Mine, or of any plans to make contact with the Trail Mountain Coal Mine or its employees.

Intervest Mining recently announced it would be closing the Trail Mountain Coal Mine within two years and around 200 miners would be left without jobs.

I called the Deer Creek Mine Thursday morning and asked what time the tour of that facility was to begin. The person I talked to said it was to start at 9 a.m. and they would not be going underground, just touring the office and yard.

I was waiting at the Deer Creek Mine from 9 to 10:30 a.m. for their arrival, along with officials from Emery West and the Deer Creek Mine. Calls kept coming to the mine that "they were on their way," but they did not arrive.

My visit at the Deer Creek Mine was wonderful. I watched as the secretary chided the miners to wipe their feet before entering the building. Everything needed to be absolutely spotless when the Scottish Power officials arrived. Work had been going on for weeks at Deer Creek painting the facilities, cleaning, and polishing everything until the whole building practically gleamed.

The employees at Deer Creek mine need to be commended for all their hard work, the facilities looked great! At Deer Creek I was invited to go upstairs into the control room where the monitor explained each piece of equipment there and how it worked, along with what his job entailed to keep all the coal miners underground accounted for and safe. It was impressive, but also said. The monitor indicated the equipment they use in the control room is equal to the newest technology of the late 1970s, and here we are in the year 2000.

An official from Emery West's main office arrived at the mine about 10:30 a.m. and said he didn't know where the Scottish Power officials were, but he had been told they were on their way.

He then asked me if I knew there was "something going on at the bottom of the hill."

That something, he said, was some coal miners from Trail Mountain waiting for the Scottish Power officials with signs. He said they were being very peaceful, just wanted to talk to the Scottish Power officials, and were not causing any problems.

I left the mine site and went down the road to the highway where the miners from Trail were assembled. They talked briefly with me and said they had witnessed the Scottish Power officials coming up the canyon in Suburbans and when they got close enough to see where they were assembled, they stopped their vehicles, turned around, and left.

At that time the miners were angry because the Scottish Power officials had turned and run, instead of driving past them to read their signs or make any effort to talk to them.

I left from there and went to Huntington where I called an employee at Emery West's main office. According to this person they didn't know anything about what was going on, just that the Scottish Power officials where somewhere and they were supposed to tour the Deer Creek Mine. This person also said there were no plans for the Scottish Power officials to tour the main office of Emery West while they were in the area.

After this phone conversation I went from Huntington to the Hunter Power Plant, and there were all the Suburbans lined up in the secured parking lot at the Hunter Power Plant. I went to the gate and security guard called into the plant. My photographer and I were allowed to enter the main foyer of the power plant.

(Continued on page 5A)

Don't miss "Ancestors"

By VALERIE JAMES
Castle Dale LDS Stake

The Second "Ancestors"

Series is coming to PBS Saturdays at 4:30 p.m. beginning June 10, and Sundays at 9 a.m. beginning June 18.

Riding the wave of the "roots" phenomenon, "Ancestors" shows viewers how to connect with the exploding world of family history research, tapping into the country's third most popular hobby - genealogy!

KBYU Television of Provo, announced the release of 13 episodes which combine dramatic stories with expert instruction, bringing family history information to a national audience. Ancestors' looks at how records such as census, probate, vital, military and immigration, can provide important information about our ancestors' lives. It shows viewers how and where to use them. "Ancestors" follows the personal stories of individuals whose search has led them to a discovery of their heritage and a greater understanding of themselves.

To follow these dramatic stories, the all-new "Ancestors" was shot on location around the world. Host Scott Wilkins takes viewers from the green hills of Ireland to the crowded streets of Hong Kong, as the search for family history records spans centuries of family connection. Along the way, he takes viewers inside some of the world's most famous genealogical repositories, like the National Archives and the Library of Congress

POLITICALLY CORRECT

By Jim Huber

THIS MAN AGREED TO SPEAK WITH ME UNDER CONDITION

